GAINESVILLE REGIONAL AIRPORT, ATLANTIC SOUTHEAST AIRLINES JOIN CONGRESSWOMAN BROWN FOR A CELEBRATION OF EXCELLENCE

GAINESVILLE, Fla. – Nov. 19, 2007 – Gainesville Regional Airport (GNV) and Atlantic Southeast Airlines (ASA) joined Congresswoman Corrine Brown today to celebrate the dedication of 25 children and to award each child a refurbished computer for successfully reading 25 books.

“I am very excited about my book club reading initiative in Gainesville, and the outpouring of support and enthusiasm has been very encouraging,” said Congresswoman Corrine Brown. “It is a wonderful feeling to see parents, community members, and corporate partners come together to mentor and encourage these young kids. I want to thank Atlantic Southeast Airlines, the Gainesville Regional Airport, Jennings Development Group, Vystar Credit Union and the Alachua County Library District. Without their enormous investment of time, resources, personnel, equipment, and space, the success these young people now enjoy would be lacking. Last, but certainly not least, I want to thank these young people for believing in us and in themselves.”

Partnering with Congresswoman Corrine Brown, Airport and ASA employees have been mentoring 25 school-age children residing in the Eden Park community. Mentors met with the children every Tuesday since July to assist with the reading material, oversee the completion of the required reading for the week and to choose new books.

“This has been an extremely rewarding experience for the entire ASA team,” said Ken Williams, ASA’s Gainesville station manger. “We are so proud of what these kids have been able to accomplish and are thrilled with Congresswoman Brown’s unwavering support of the program. This is what being part of a great community is all about.”

The children were rewarded their own computer today, compliments of United States Congresswoman Corrine Brown’s office.

“We are proud to partner with Congresswoman Brown and to be included in this worthy program that encourages children to read and to work toward their goals,” said Allan Penksa, Airport CEO. “This experience has been rewarding for the children and the mentors, and we hope that our efforts made a positive impact into the lives of the children.”

The refurbished computers were provided by VyStar Credit Union and Comcast Cable. The designated children for the Airport’s efforts were selected by representatives from Davis Property Management, Inc.
